

EDUCATION WITHOUT FRONTIERS 1989 - 2019

www.europrojectnet.eu

A dynamic network which continually seeks to initiate new exchange projects between the participating schools started in 1989 with 7 schools from 6 countries, developed in 1991 when 14 schools from 12 countries sent their delegations to the first big conference. The cooperation between and among the schools has continued over the past 3 decades, many thousands of students have participated in valuable exchanges and projects under the Socrates Comenius, Longlife Learning Programme and now Erasmus+. The network and its activities have greatly contributed to the expansion of the international and especially the European dimension in the schools.

All member schools within the Europroject network "Education without Frontiers" subscribe to the principles based on the "CHARTER OF FUNDAMENTAL RIGHTS OF THE EUROPEAN UNION" and focus on the following principles:

- to promote the European dimension in education and training
- to promote tolerance and accept diversities of the partner schools' backgrounds with respect to religious and philosophical identities, cultures and traditions, languages and educational systems
- to offer equal opportunities for internationalization
- to respect and consider the students' views to their best interest
- to enhance the quality and efficiency of education

The member schools have committed themselves to:

- maintain the network of schools "Education without Frontiers" by establishing and keeping contact, planning and realizing common projects and exchanges, sending a delegation of students and teachers to the annual conference,
 - create a topic for these conferences that is of common interest for all member schools,
 - make use of the network to find partners for international projects,
- encourage and support students' international cooperation offered by network activities for their future benefit,
 - share innovative ideas and best practices,
- disseminate project outcomes in order to achieve lasting sustainability,
 - contribute to a pool of ideas, bringin in every school's expertise
 - have a contact person for the information flow,
- financially support schools in need to participate in the annual conferences.
